主日读经训示

我们对于一些熟悉的事物，往往带有一种偏见。当身边一些一同成长、一起工作的人，他们的成就和位置都比自己高时，我们会心存妒忌，认为他们只是侥幸。这种偏见经常会蒙蔽我们，使我们看不到别人的真、善、美。而且只让我们看到别人的丑恶的一面。即使基督在我们的面前，我们也会视而不见，我们常在别人身上看到善的一面吗？

Reflection: " Listen to the Lord "

power
is made perfect in weakness

Most of us know who Jesus is. However, knowing him is not enough. Have we accepted him as our Master and Saviour? Or have we rejected him like the people in his hometown? Knowing the Lord and following him are inseparable actions. Some think that Jesus is just part of History. The truth is that Jesus is always with us. He speaks to us when the Scriptures are read during the liturgy, and he instructs us by means of the other teachings of the Church. The nation of Israel had rebelled against the Sovereign Lord. They were hard-hearted and stubborn people at that time. However, we should not be of the same kind. We recognize that our Lord gave his life for us. He forgives all our sins. He does not keep a record of our wrongs. How fortunate we are. We acknowledge that we are blessed with the gift of the Living God. He is amongst us, in good times and in bad times. We treasure every moment of our lives because every such moment is a moment spent with our Lord who walks with us.
